

The Voyage of Eight Eighteen

Kansas

Somewhere there is
A place where all the things that live and breathe
Exist in harmony
Sharing gifts of what of world of life
Can bring to those who see
Giving back more than they take, they need
To stay in balance, letting colors synchronize Somehow the light
Of greater minds of knowledge leads us through
The darkness of night
Calculated the dimensions flow
A formula that's just and right
Bringing us to reason and reform
The logic that eludes, the changing answers of the truth Someway we'll find
A way to hold the innocence we had in
The eyes of a child
To wake each day with open hearts and minds
Devoid of tarnishing from life
Beyond a darkness that conceals our hate
No one to despise
No more feelings to disguise ...
