

Parallel Universe

Sakia

Iâ€™m at the station
Of imagination
Running after your train
World frozen but I still move
Drifting away from you
Running in vain

We are one-of-a-kind
And our love so divine
Might still be there for us to find

When I am alone in this room
I live another life with you
In a parallel universe

Our alienation
If we are patient
Will take the weight off our heavy hearts

We are one-of-a-kind
And our love so divine
Might still be there for us to find

When I am alone in this room
I live another life with you
In a parallel universe
There is a space and time for us
In another dimension
In a parallel universe

Iâ€™m in this maze
In the depths of my disgrace

When I am alone in this room
I live another life with you
In a parallel universe
There is a space and time for us
In another dimension
In a parallel universe
