The Shakes

Priestess

When I don't call and you wait
I guess it seems I'm abominable
Then I'm late and I sleep in
I feel like a criminalLate at night, we're in bed
I can be like a dog
The heating's off and you're warm
I don't feel like catching a coldIn any case, you don't care
You don't feel like rubbing it in
When I'm outside in the pouring rain
I know you'll let me inI give you all that I got
You never have to ask
You give me love and I know
That it's the best I'll ever have
And that's whyHey my babe
I can't sleep when you're not in town
Hope that you know
I get the shakes when you're not aroundIn my window
You see a sad, pathetic clown
I want you to know
I get the shakes when you're not aroundNow it's you and it's me
I can't believe we've been alone
Spread apart sharing laughs and tears
Over the telephoneSaid and done, set in stone
You've given me another chance
A thousand miles or one inch
Doesn't make a difference
