

Bare Feet

Marty Ray Project

There's something 'bout having your bare feet on
With the grass and the sand and the mud in your toes
Feeling where you're walking and walking real slow
There's something 'bout having your bare feet on

There's something to walking by a lake at night
With the crickets out singing and the stars real bright
A cool summer breeze and love on my side
There's something to walking by a lake at night

And I don't wanna walk
In someone else's shoes
'Cuz all I need is love and that's right here when I'm with you
Our skin on the ground hand in hand where we belong
As long as we're loving with our bare feet on

There's something 'bout sleeping in a bed by you
I dream about a love and you dream of me too
I kiss you every morning but it's long overdue
There's something 'bout sleeping in a bed by you

There's something 'bout a baby with her bare feet on
With her little brother there and a lullaby song
God's little angels He gave us on loan
There's something 'bout a baby with her bare feet on

And I don't have to walk in someone else's shoes
To feel the love that I feel when I'm with you
And if there's just one thing of that my God has shown
There's something 'bout having your bare feet on

There's something 'bout walking on the streets of gold
Grandmama and daddy and the saints of old
Now that I'm here you can write it on stone
There's something 'bout having your bare feet on

Lyrics Submitted by Erin Glasser

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>