The Day That She Left

Seaway

You've got a lot to tell me but it's nothing that I don't already know
You've got a lot to tell me but I think I think that you should know (The odds areall against you)
The world's at a standstill while my life is turning
The people you pay for, they're still never learning
A simple judgement of character should have known that I'd catch up with her but when I lost that race
(Of course she didn't even fucking care)
You've got a lot to tell me but it's nothing that I don't already know (we roll the dice with nothing left to show)
You've got a lot to tell me but it's nothing that I don't already know
And normally I, I just feel punishedbut it's never honest
This lack of distance makes me feel this way
Her disappointment is the world on my shoulders
My own cross to bear (My own cross to bear)
(But she'll never care)
You've got a lot to tell me but it's nothing that I don't already know (We roll the
dice with nothing left to show) You've got a lot to tell me but I think, I think that you should know (The odds are all against you)
You've got a lot to tell me but it's nothing that I don't already know (We roll the
dice with nothing left to show)
You've got a lot to tell me but it's nothing that I don't already know
A simple judgement of character (Should have known)
I swore I'd forget all the nights spent together
The day that she left I will always (will always) remember
The day that she left I will always remember
You've got a lot to tell me but it's nothing that I don't already know
You've got a lot to tell me but it's nothing that I don't already know
You've got a lot to tell me but it's nothing that I don't already know (We roll the
