

Losing My Grip

Hoobastank

Another night follows the day
Like a child does to it's mother
And everywhere I look I see your face
On the face of others
And I can't escape the pain
Of all the questions I went through
I never told myself the truth
I turned my back on you and me
Cause I was scared to see
That we weren't who we used to be [Chorus]
So now I'm trying hard to let go
Let you go, but I can't seem to loosen my grip
Trying hard to let go, let you go, let you go, let you go, go
I feel an emptiness inside
A part of me already died
When I pretended to go on
Like everything's okay
Then all we built began to fall
As I began to lose it all
I shut my eyes to set me free
Cause I was scared to see
That we weren't who we used to be [Chorus]
You're all that I ever wanted
You're everything that I need
But now it's finally over
Time for goodbyes, I'm needed [Chorus]
I'm trying hard to let go (let you go, let you go) let you go, go
