

The Swan Song

Within Temptation

Winter has come for me, can't carry on
The chains to my life are strong but soon they'll be gone
I'll spread my wings one more time Is it a dream?
All the ones I have loved
Calling out my name The sun warms my face
All the days of my life
I see them passing me by In my heart I know I can let go
In the end I will find some peace inside
New wings are growing tonight Is it a dream?
All the ones I have loved
Calling out my name The sun warms my face
All the days of my life
I see them passing me by As I am soaring, I'm one with the wind
I am longing to see you again, it's been so long
We will be together again Is it a dream?
All the ones I have loved
Calling out my name The sun warms my face
All the days of my life
I see them passing me by
