

Can't Let Her See Me Cry

Lee Hazlewood

Here they come, hand in hand, they walk alone, as happy as can be

Here am i, standing by, remembering when she used to walk with me

Gotta smile when they pass by, i can't let her see me cry

Here they are, and the stars that shine this night, shine for only them

It's too late, still i wait and wish those stars would shine for me again

Gotta smile when they pass by, i can't let her see me cry

Her love was mine, but i was blind, and let him steal her one day

Now i'm too old to cry, and too young to die and it hurts too much to run away

There they go, they're in love, as much in love as any two you will see

Here i stand all alone, as much alone as any fool can be Glad i smiled when they passed by, i'm so glad she didn't see me cry.
