

Monroe

Cash L3wis

[VERSE]

So I call her Monroe so delicately impeccable
A natural blonde phenom but far more intellectual
A spectacle of innocence clouded by a storm
I feel imprisonment is burning at her inner core & though I feel the need to study her a little more
I also know I need to keep my feelings in diluted form
Minimal interaction is pivotal
Due to the fact that I am naturally analytical
So I would be unwillingly forced to see the miserable force Behind her heartache as she hides it from her physical
A critical situation she won't appreciate
Cause people always think they know whats best for them & hate
When other people try to help a couple regulate
By offering advice in a condescendingly garish way
I keep my mouth shut like I have tooth decay
Even though I wanna be her superman and save the day
But then again I don't know if she needs saving
Cause lately shes been laughing more during conversation
More complacent, no aggravation
Maybe shes handling her relationship with patience
A sticky situation Im sick of dwelling on
By expelling energy in the form of another song
But that's all I can do when Im unable to respond
When they ask me where I think Ms. Marilyn Monroe belongs
Id like to believe she would be better off if she lost
The man she was with, I should fight for her love at any cost
But Im a boss, not a home-wrecker
I should just wait until he has neglected to respect her
But as of now its not my sector so I will not call or text her unless shes obviously applying pressure
Telekinetically telling me to advance
To sweep her off of her feet, abducting her from her man[HOOK]
Feels like Im drowning, I cannot breathe
I hate this feeling, but cannot leave
Is anybody out there? I cannot see
Come rescue me, please rescue me

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnyrics.com/>