9:45

Mieka Pauley

9:45, moon rises, time already
Cold as a knife on your fragile skin
0h, and the morning comes
Will you remember this as the way it all begins?

Chorus
Is time, is never one, should you doubt this
Though, promises, promising all the wise
Is time, is never one, should you doubt this
Get yourself together and rise

Stack the bags you never pack
In a pile by the door
And grab the map you've always had
But never traveled before

Oh and the morning comes
Will you find yourself far from
The bed you don't need anymore?

Is time, is never one, should you doubt this
Though, promises, promising all the wise
Is time, is never one, should you doubt this
Get yourself together and rise, rise

30 seconds to spare, swerving all around
And you don't care
God save the soul of the man who gave you gasoline, oh
30 seconds is time to make or break a man
And you don't mind
God save the soul of the man who gave you gasoline, oh, gasoline

Is time, it is never one, should you doubt this
Though, promises, promising all the wise
Is time, is never one, should you doubt this
Get yourself together and, get, get yourself together and, get yourself together and rise, rise
