

About You

San Cisco

Cliches, are what we say
When words don't even matter
    Sweet tooth
        For a liar
    I only wish I never met her
    Confusion, I know we'll lose it
    Touch, with one another
        So keep up
    You'll need some good luck
Running from what you can't imagine
    This is not about me
    It's more about you and what you're going through
        This is not about us
This is more about how you're doing what you wanna do
    I hope you realise
        That this is real life
    You're not looking for some truth
    You're selecting the proof
        To sue you
    And I can take you out of the stratosphere
        Oh up there the air is clear
    I can take you anywhere you like
        You know I never get it right
        You know, oh woah oh oh
You're driving this one so take it slow
    This is not about me
    It's more about you and what you're going through
        This is not about us
It's more about how you're doing what you wanna do
    You never really ever care
        He was never really ever there
        Why do you hesitate
        Let go give into it
    It's not about the things you say
        I do not feel this emptiness
        It hurts too much
        To really let go
    Oh woah oh oh [x4]
    This is not about me
    It's more about you and what you're going through
        This is not about us
It's more about how you're doing what you wanna do
    This is not about me
    It's more about you and what you're going through

This is not about us
