Fallout Leader

Choke

falling behind on days that seem like nothing fits there's a crack in the floor where you're pacing, a track worn as the walls are caving in perception's clearly out of focus this is all that you are nothing more you could ask for as you're tracing your mistakeslast stop you leave dishonest this trap that you laid out i read into deceiving eyes stories that seem ironic one point of view
with two opposing sides demisetrailing behind you pull the weight that anchors you drop the key on the floor feel the grains where your feet were now the lighting starts to dim
as your tracing your mistakesfallout leader your charade's been detected it's not what you wanted the train's hit a dead end it's nnot what you wanted
