Princess With A Big Heart

Kris Demeanor

Sissy left a tribute to her friend Tina in Tennessee
In the middle of the grave site as a symbol of her grief
Something she had carried 'round as a toy, a pacifier
In amongst a thousand footprints Sissy left her favourite tire

CHORUS
A princess with a big heart
For Sissy this has been particularly difficult

Tina came down from Vancouver nursing an infected foot
It had seemed she'd been recovering, it seemed she was out of the woods
Comfortable, she never struggled, and Sissy was there by her side
Touching her, caressing her, no stress or panic in her eyes

CHORUS

Sissy was pushing her trunk a little like "wake up, wake up"
Sissy was pushing her trunk a little like "wake up, wake up, wake up"

The mood was sombre in Vancouver as the staff dealt with the news
Tony, Tina's long-time keeper, was too upset to be interviewed
The owner of the game farm said she never misbehaved
And Sissy finally got hungry after two days by the grave

CHORUS
A princess with a big heart
A princess with a big heart
A princess with a big heart
For Sissy this has been particularly difficult
