Here Is No Why

The Smashing Pumpkins

The useless drag of another day
The endless drags of a dead rock boy
Mascara sure and lipstick lost
Glitter burned by restless thoughts of being forgotten
And in your sad machines you'll forever stay
Desperate and displeased with whoever you are
And you're a star
Somewhere, he pulls his hair down over a frowning smile
A hidden diamond you cannot find
A secret star that cannot shine over to you
May the King of gloom, be forever doomed

And in your sad machines you'll forever stay
Burning up in speed
Lost inside the dreams, of teen machines
The useless drags, the empty days
The lonely towers of long mistakes
Forgotten faces and faded loves
Sitting still was never enough
If you're giving in, then you're giving up
'Cause in your sad machines you'll forever stay
Burning up in speed
