Monochrome

Papadosio

I could have sailed you home, on the wind
To ride in the same boat that I'm in

The creature calls your name, no reply
We are all the same, you and I

You could have seen the world, like a child
Imaginations run, so wild

But now you close it down, lost your sight
Because you only see in black and white

Lyrics submitted by Omar Garcia.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/