Take a Little Trip

Minnie Riperton

Take a little trip through your mind and explore it
Take another trip on a magic carpet ride
Take a little trip through your mind and explore it
Take a closer look at the you, you're tryin' to hideYou're the one who always wants to have your way
And like the sky, it's you whose feelings change with every day
And you think there's righteousness in all you say
And you won't try to reach inside, soTake a little trip through your mind and explore it
Take another trip on a magic carpet ride
Take a little trip through your mind and explore it
Take a closer look at the you, you're tryin' to hideYou're the one who says the things you don't believe
And when you need to be, you can't distinguish you from me
And you think your lines have overall control
But your mind can't see, for blindin' your soul, soTake a little trip through your mind and explore it
Take another trip on a magic carpet ride
Take a little trip through your mind and explore it
Take a closer look at the you, you're tryin' to find
