

Someone Somewhere Tonight

Kenny Rogers

Someone somewhere tonight
Is taking their first steps
Letting go of the hands that held them
And trusting themselves And somewhere somewhere tonight
Is hearing their last rites
And prayin' with all their might
That there's something else So, babe, lie down here beside me
Let's lie real still
And tell me you love me
And you always will Someone somewhere tonight
Is tasting their first kiss
Whispering softly this wish
For this night to go on While someone somewhere
Is holdin' on to a bottle
Pourin' one more and hopin' that God will Get them through till the dawn So, babe, lie down here beside me
And let's lie real still
And tell me you love me
And you always will Someone somewhere tonight
Is stuck in a prison
Breathin' but just barely livin'
Behind walls of their own But someone somewhere tonight
Just found their own wings
Found some beauty and found some meaning
They found some truth, found some truth
In spite of it all So, babe, lie down here beside me
And let's lie real still
And tell me you love me
And you always will And you always will

Songwriters

WILKINS, WALTER / RAINES, DAVIS Published by

Lyrics © Warner/Chappell Music, Inc., BMG RIGHTS MANAGEMENT US, LLC, MIKE CURB MUSIC

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>