

Dug My Heart

BÃ~RNS

You dug my heart a grave
I watched you illustrate
The expression of another lonely girl

And there you like awake
And wish you knew a way to fade
The blaring silence from your
Only world

Now you're running to the sound of the light
Running to the sound of the light
Running to the sound of the light

It's inevitable ain't it?
You left without saying
I hope the cracks in the pavement,
Lead back to you baby
Back to you baby

I burnt so many memories
Just to make room for any
Thoughts of caressing your sweet
Anatomy as we sleep
The taste you left on my teeth
Your breath across my left cheek
The feeling chemically, oh

It's inevitable ain't it?
You left without saying
I hope the cracks in the pavement,
Lead back to you baby
Back to you baby

And now you're running to the sound of the light
Running to the sound of the light
Running to the sound of the light

It's a inevitable ain't it?
You left without saying
I hope the cracks in the pavement,

Lead back to you baby

Back to you baby

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>