Serpentine

Disturbed

See those dogs come running, smelling blood now
To an open sore on a parasite
Countless hearts have fallen, hard to number
Damnation's whore is looking for a victim tonight
With an angry soul and a wicked design
Your will cannot endure and your heart is torn away
I was caught up in the moment
We were alone and you seemed to harness the light
Even though I felt cold inside when you told me it would be alright
I had given up control and I didn't focus hard enough
To see the warning signs, your heart is serpentine
Damn what I've becoming one of them now
Just an opened door on an endless night
Dark desire burning in my blood now
How can I be sure I don't know if I'll be able to fight?
With a tortured soul and an honest design
My will cannot endure as my heart is torn away
I was caught up in the moment
We were alone and you seemed to harness the light
Even though I felt cold inside when you told me it would be alright
I had given up control and I didn't focus hard enough
To see the warning signs, your heart is serpentine
Now that I've been torn apart
Will there be an end to this?
Will there finally be release?
Will I finally rest in peace?
I'm determined to believe
My prayers will be received
With a tortured soul and an honest design
My will cannot endure as my heart is torn away
I was caught up in the moment
We were alone and you seemed to harness the light
Even though I felt cold inside when you told me it would be alright
I had given up control and I didn't focus hard enough
To see the warning signs, your heart is serpentine
The warning signs, your heart is serpentine
Evil personified, your heart is serpentine
