Shadow Cast

Skinny Puppy

magnified fear stares back the mirror reflect depravity the shadow cast a feeling of ill harmony so crisp the famines itch a withering shoreline tears of grey interspersed with withered fruit her gloomy banquet of cheer heaven what a sweet pain douse the ecstasy the imagination drained away perpetual reverie abruptly fade heavens soothing some say tremulous hand jabs from behind sticks in the back for all to see organs spilled leak of will void of secrecy genuine tears delights the taste pain salts the bitter brew rich in guilt to absorb the filth she worships a point of view scarce the thousand remnants black charred flesh a victim screaming through heaven or hell what's the difference one to believe in one to live in careful balancing what's hell to heavens only flame
