

A Trophy Fathers Trophy Son

Sleeping With Sirens

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

Father, father, tell me where have you been?
It's been hell not having you here
I've been missing you so bad
And you don't seem to care
When I go to sleep at night, you're not there, yeah
When I go to sleep at night, do you care, yeah Do you even miss us?
Your bottles and mistress
I need to know, I need to know
Why are you walking away?
Was it something I did?
Did I make a mistake cause
I'm trying to deal with the pain
I don't understand this, is this how it ends?
I will try to understand Father, father, tell me where are you now?
It's been hell not having you
Last thing I heard, you were fed up, you're skipping town
With no note telling where
When I go to sleep at night, you're not there, yeah
When I go to sleep at night, do you care, yeah I need to know, I need to know
Why are you walking away?
Was it something I did?
Did I make a mistake cause
I'm trying to deal with the pain
I don't understand this, is this how it ends?
I will try to understand Why are you running away?
I don't understand this, is this how it ends?
Why are you running away?
Tell me please, tell me please, I need to know Is this what you call a family?
Is this what you call a family?
Is this what you call a family?
Is this what you call a family? Its been seven years wishing that you'd drop a line
But I carry the thought along with you in my mind

Is this what you call a family?
Is this what you call a family?
Family! Why are you walking away?
Was it something I did?
Did I make a mistake cause
I'm trying to deal with the pain
I don't understand this, is this how it ends? Why are you running away?
I don't understand this, is this how it ends?
Why are you running away?
Tell me please, tell me please, I need to know Is this what you call a family?
Is this what you call a family?
Is this what you call a family?
Is this what you call a family?

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>