

Organic Shadows

Meshuggah

The glued-on sheet of self control
The pity of sense of sanity
Cracking at the seams
Torn from my realityThe motion of thoughts subdued
Overcome, suppressed by terror
The mouth of fear overfed
By dread beyond measurePounding waves of overload
Running through my every nerve
Will reduced to nothingnessMy system overturned
My mind resigns to defeat
Internal razors activated
Slashing through unprocessed thought
The severance of self completeHeartbeats hammering at the sight
A revelation to wrap my soul in fear
Blinded by the never light
As I stare into my organic shadowThe bin of repressed emotions crammed
Limits of pain by far exceeded
I stare into the blank
The mantra of dead silence repeatedHear me, find me
Save me, the dead meShallow breathing
Eyes not shut, not open
By fear silenced
Incantations never spokenThis hell of vacuum abound
With the chanting whispers of the mute
Exposed to the wrath of never sound
The words of my organic shadow
