Inhumanity

Mors Principium Est

[lyrics by Ville Viljanen and Jori Haukio]Again we're on the line and this time i feel the day is not mine Touch gently on the surface or crash like hell
I won't be sacrifisedI let the hours wear my heart
I leave the others to impale nightly moon
and when I hear the call crying loud I just turn and turn and run awayImpleasent all the way still a form of life tradition yet remains and when its starts to rain I seek for shelter and blow my storm awayI let the hours wear my heart
I leave the others to impale nightly moon
and when I hear the call crying loud
I just turn and turn and run away
