What About Me

Emily Osment

The city is sleeping but I'm still awake
I'm dreaming, I'm thinking
What happened today, is it right?
I fall into the nightThe flashbacks, the pictures
The letters and songs
The memories, the heart
That you carved on the wall
It's a shame, now that nothing's the sameNow the bridges are burned
And we're lost in the wind
It's time that we sing
Chorus swellWhat about you? What about me?
What about fairy tale endings?
Were you just pretending to be?
I'm wonderingWhat if we tried? What if I cried?
What if it's better tomorrow?
What if I followed your eyes?
I'm wondering, what about me?You said it, you meant it
You hung up the phone
The talking in circles
It set it in stone, you were gone
We were wrong all alongNow the past is the past
And the bruises may fade
These scars are here to stayWhat about you? What about me?
What about fairytale endings?
Were you just pretending to be?
I'm wonderingWhat if we tried? What if I cried?
What if it's better tomorrow?
What if I followed your eyes?
I'm wondering, what about me?Stay away, you'll fade away
I'm not afraid anymoreWhat about you? What about me?
What about fairytale endings?
Were you just pretending to be?
I'm wonderingWhat if we tried? What if I cried?
What if it's better tomorrow?
And what if I followed your eyes?
I'm wondering, what about me?The city is sleeping but I'm still awake
I'm dreaming, I'm thinking
What happened today, is it right?
