Rules

Pennywise

I've got to realize that life is but a game and it dosen't matter how you score but how you play and although the masses play the host make all the rules the only rules you should live by ...Rules made up by you the only rules you should live by in this bent facade of people being who they're not who view the world through the windshield of the beamer they just bought and swear by hypocrisy yea thinking they'll go far hey mister can you tell me...Tell me who you are two for one can you survive one by one you stay alive do you think you really stand a chance pray to god for intervention don't you wanna know who deals the hands?

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/