Hotel

Kita Alexander

I've been gettin high
Almost every night
To get you off my mindRunning down my eyes
Taste like turpentine
Why can't I say goodbyeI've been standing in the sand Praying for the waves and Everything'll bee fine in the end
Because you used to saySomeday you'll find me
Where the champagnes always free
When you check into the hotel where the skyline meets the sea
One day you'll meet me and you'll know it's not a dream
It won't be hell or heaven
We'll be somewhere in between
Somewhere in between
When we're young again
Will you call my name
Will you still know my faceTie me down with pain
Take it all away
You told me I've got to waitAnd I've been standing in the sand Praying for the wave but
I know now it's not the end
Because you used to saySomeday you'll find me
Where the champagnes always free
When you check into the hotel where the skyline meets the sea
One day you'll meet me and you'll know it's not a dream
It won't be hell or heaven
We'll be somewhere in between
Somewhere in between
When everything I want goes out the door
No choice to leave the house in search of something more
Is there darkness if I dive beneath the waves
Or will it be just like you always used to saySomeday when you find me
I'll be wading in the water
Someday when you meet me
We will hold onto eachotherOne day you'll meet me and you'll know it's not a dream
It won't be hell or heaven we'll be somewhere in between
