Visions

Jennifer Knapp

I think about the waves of time
And how they roll across my shoulders
Thinkin' no clock is gonna get the best of meMinutes threaten through the years
To carve wrinkles with my tears
Across the face with straining eyes to seeThey're looking for the peace that passes all understanding
In a world crazed with fear
They say that I am much too demanding
To want a better place than hereSo I'll go unto visions
The Prophets gave to me
And I'll dream of Heaven
The promise in which I believeOutside are dogs and scoffers
Well, they mock my very soul
They try to steal the joy of that promise I ownBut I will not be shaken
From the rock that cleaves to me
I've searched the world and found there's one thing I needIt's the peace that passes all understanding
In a world crazed with fear
They say that I am much too demanding
To want a better place than hereSo I'll go unto visions
The Prophets gave to me
And I'll dream of Heaven
The promise in which I believeWas made by the Father
Sealed by the blood
With the promise of Spirit my victory is wonWon't no lion catch me sleepin'?
No, not on the darkest night
Can I say the same for you?Oh, can you hear him creeping?
Oh, he's got you in his sights
Oh, what are we to do?Oh, the world is my Jordan
Someday I'm gonna cross
Ain't no one gonna look and say this soul is lostSo I'll do my best, try to tell all the rest
When the lion roars, I'm gonna hide behind the cross
Because it's thePeace that passes all understanding
In a world crazed with fear
They say that I am much too demanding
To want a better place than hereSo I'll go unto visions
The Prophets gave to me
And I'll dream of Heaven
The promise in which I believe
