Who's Going Home with You Tonight?

Trapt

Don't think we ever really got it right
Both you and I have always kept it bottled up inside
Can you show me what it feels like to give yourself away Why can't I hold onto youThere is no one around who picks me up when I'm down like you do and when you can't hear a sound will the silence drown you tooWho's going home with you tonight was it real or am I part of your collection have you crossed the line
Who's going home with you tonight
Oh I feel like you're an open invitation Is this how we say goodbye Keeping secrets somewhere down below
I wish you had the heart to tell me that you sold your soul
So many things you couldn't let me know
You had to run away
Why can't I hold onto youWho's going home with you tonight
Who's going home with you tonight
can you tell me what it wrong and what is right Who's going home with you tonightWhy can't I hold onto youIt's getting harder to sit here alone
I've been waiting I've been waiting and you still ain't home
I have never ever felt so low
I've been thinking I've been thinking Oh where did you go
Who's going home with you tonight
Who's going home with you tonight
can you tell me what it wrong and what is right
Who's going home with you tonight

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/