Rain Song

Inspiral Carpets

Take a look inside, tell me what you see
There's someone there that shouldn't be
Times have been and gone, we've made mistakes
We're holding on to something wrong, a choice I wouldn't makeI'm not your saviour, I'm not here to help you
No shining light to guide you, oh, I'm not your saviour
In these days when the time'd pass so slow
There's more to say when it's time to goYou hold your breath all the while while I freeze a smile
I'm not your saviour, I'm not here to help you
No shining light to guide you, oh, I'm not your saviour
(Say, say, say, say)Away I went at a faster speed
Still holding out for a greater need
You write your name in the sand
Yes, you, you, you, you, you write in a foreign hand
