Try Again

Kim Wilde

Try again, try againI can't see your face Hear the excuses for the mistakes that you make

I've heard all your lies

I don't know how much I can take before I breakI've tried to be so strong while you broke the promises

All the vows that we made

We know something's wrong but we carry on anyway

Day by dayYou're the one

Who let me down

And now I find it hard to forgive

In my heartBut I'll try again to forget all the pain

And love you again I'll try again

Though you hurt me I know

I can't let you goHow can we forget the sweetness of yesterday

We just can't let it go

Lost in bitterness I'm losing my self control

And my soulYou're the one

Who let me down

And now I find it hard to forgive

In my mindBut I'll try again to forget all the pain

And love you again I'll try again

Though you hurt me I know

I can't let you goOh why, why do we hurt each other more

When there's a way 'cos we never really found

What we were looking for

Can we try again?'Cos you're the one

Who let me down

And now I find it hard to forgive

In my heartBut I'll try again to forget all the pain

And love you again I'll try again

Though you hurt me I know

I can't let you goTry again

Ooh, I'll try again

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/