Falling Apart

Gemini Syndrome

Look inside the picture frame
The faces have been empty for so long
You are a prisoner
The story is sinister

Only memory remains
The space is only empty when youâ€™re gone
The day is apocalypse
The story is on your lips

I canâ€™t save you
I canâ€™t save you

Every time I try to redirect your eyes
To see through to the real you
You push me to the side every single time
And I canâ€™t help you
From falling apart again

Every dayâ€™s a tragedy
And everything is dying anyway
Iâ€™m not afraid to die
The memories multiply
Hope is just a breath away
You hear it when the angels call your name
Is anyone listening
The deity is beckoning

I canâ€™t save you
I canâ€™t save you

Every time I try
To redirect your eyes
To see through to
The real you
You push me to the side
Every single time
And I canâ€™t help you

Falling apart again

Why?!
The journey to save yourself
Is the reflection of the dreams you have
That try to separate you from
Heaven and hell
You wanna quit but never will
Because itâ€™s already over

Every time I try
To redirect your eyes
To see through to
The real you
Every single time

Every time I try
To redirect your eyes
To see through to
The real you
