The Great Divorce

Kate Martin

Bending in the air
Of course, there was a great divorce
A great divorce
The water creeping up our thighs
Weâ€™re in a sea, a sea of change
A sea of change
I can feel the ebb and flow
Of your hand, moving down my spine
Making itâ€™s way on down

No-oneâ€™s got it all worked out, in the end
No-oneâ€™s got it all worked out

There was a valley deep and wide
And of course, there was a great divorce
A great divorce
Everything results in my age, Iâ€™m aware
Now Iâ€™m tied to a chair
Ooh, youâ€™re hacking at my hair

Walk in to your house at night, Iâ€™m unsure
Is that a closing door?
Iâ€™ve never noticed it before

Feeling pretty miniscule tonight
No-oneâ€™s got it all worked out, in the end
No-oneâ€™s got it all worked out
No-oneâ€™s got it all, no-oneâ€™s got it all
No-oneâ€™s got it all worked out

Youâ€™ve given me this book to write my words in
When I turn the page, it turns so nicely
I pull my hair, you count to ten
Weâ€™re talking to ourselves again
Weâ€™re crazy
I think weâ€™re crazy
