Under The Radar

Feel

Through the dark I search again
For a universal refrain
Lost and lonely sea crashing waves
Strumming through my revolving daysAnd if I dont have it all worked out
By five oclock, Ill just do without it for nowUnder the radar
Under the spotlight
Under the underground
Inside the headlightsOn a stream of consciousness
All my meaning slips again
And I dont know how to begin
Or if anyone would understandThat if I dont have it all worked out
By five oclock, Ill just do without it for nowUnder the radar
Under the spotlight
Under the underground
Inside the headlightsBut if I find something between the blinds
And she says something great
Then I just might steal something from the air
Put it down and sleep so sound
Put it down and sleep so soundLost and lonely sea crashing waves
Strumming through my revolving days
