I Cry Real Tears

Tonya Mitchell

Oh yeah, yeahYou ought to be ashamed of yourself
The way you talk down to me, oh baby
And didn't anybody ever teach you
To act more respectfullyI'm telling you that I'm only human too
Don't you realize, look at my face
What do you see in my eyes
When a part of me just diesI cry real tears, I have real fears, ooh yeah
I've got a heart that's beating inside
Sometimes it breaks and when it aches
My eyes cry real tearsYou treat me like you think I'm made of stone
Like when I'm cut I don't bleed, oh baby
Don't you know that I'm just flesh and bone
So what do you want from me?I'm telling you that I'm only human too
Don't you realize, look at my face
What do you see in my eyes
When a part of me just diesI cry real tears, I have real fears
I've got a heart that's beating inside
Sometimes it breaks and when it aches
My eyes cry real tearsThere's something called the golden rule
Some day you'll wish you'd followed it more
You've been a fool
My love is truer than any love you will find
But I'm worth so much more and so is my timeI cry real tears, I have real fears
I've got a heart that's beating inside
Sometimes it breaks and when it aches
My eyes cry real tearsMy eyes cry real tears
I've got a heart that's beating inside for you, babe
My eyes cry real tears
Every little teardrop, they fall from my eyes, they fall for youMy eyes cry real tears
My eyes, they cry real tears
My eyes, they cry real tears

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/