

No Eyed Girl

Lemon Demon

Oh, knowing what we know, knowing we don't know
This is gonna change our world
Feeling how I feel, I'll accept the unreal
If you be my no-eyed girl from nowhere, mankind can't go there too much light, blinding white
Your matter tells mine to scatter
It's alright, it's alright From the moment that we met
I've been awake like I've never been awake in all my life
If I spoke your language I could tell you how I feel
But your language isn't real
In every myth there's a little bit of truth
But I cannot say a thing (I cannot say a thing)
Without proof, oh no Knowing what we know, knowing we do not know
This is gonna change our world
I might go insane if I learn your full name
If you be my no-eyed girl
from nowhere, mankind can't go there
too much light, blinding white
Emotions, human implosions
It's alright, it's alright Right before the kiss I noticed something in the air Molecules existed when there should have been none there Chemical reactions with the surface of your skin
Some will say my actions let the no-eyed people in

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>