

At This Velocity

Thursday

Okay

We were safe, now we're paralyzed

Suspended in flight

At this speed it makes no difference

Where I start and where I end

Or if we're sitting in an emergency aisle

We could be dead, complete the equation

Our names are 'X' and 'N'

We have no value in these calculations

Placed on a plane, pointed straight down

Traveling at 500 feet per second

5000 feet from the ground

How long will it take us to hit?

How fast will we start the disintegration?

Don't die now, just keep moving

Don't die now, just keep moving

How long will it take us to hit?

How fast will we start the disintegration?

We could be safe here forever

Floating in the clean blue air

Somewhere between the sun that gives us light

And the ground that puts it out

And we'll kneel in the aisles

Press our hands together and close our eyes

Speak these words so softly

To the black box and it goes

Mother, father can you hear this?

I want to thank you for all of your sweetness

I'm not coming home, I'm never coming home
