

Capable of Anything

Ben Folds

What is this?
It doesn't make much sense.
They sing it like a love song:
"You're capable of anything!" And I'm sure they meant,
"You could be president,
Or you could just forgive me."
But I stopped caring what you think about me,
I gave up. We're told we are capable of anything,
But you don't seem to think that you are...
Capable of anything. Swung and missed.
I put my heart in this,
The thick and holy good guy
I want so bad to be,
But I was weak and wrong,
And when I end it all
It only made you righteous now
You get to blame your life on me, But I stopped caring what you think about me,
I gave up. We're told we are capable of anything,
But you don't seem to think that you are...
Capable of anything. You are capable of anything.
But you don't seem to think
That you can fly so low or sink so high
That you could ever love again, or even try
That you could steal, or cheat, or kill, or lie
But you might.
