

Beginning Again

Brian Auger's Oblivion Express

In the dawn between the worlds
A pausing for reflection
What you really want to be
Is there for your inspection
You're dreaming at your living
But living means forgiving

Back to the beginning again (repeats)In the light between your minds

There's a strange distinct sensation
You've become the object of
Your anger and frustation
You better take that look
And make it down the road

Back to the beginning again (repeats)La la la la laIf you can face your fear
And make your problems scatter

If you don't win today
It really doesn't matter
But baby when you do
But brother I'll see you

Back to the beginning again (repeats)keyboard soloIn the dawn between the worlds

Pausing for reflection
What you really want to be
Is there for your inspection
You're dreaming that you're living
But living means forgiving

Back to the beginning again (repeats)If you can face your fear

And make your problems scatter
If you don't win today
It really really doesn't matter
But baby when you do
But brother I'll see you

Back at the beginning again (repeats)

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlrics.com/>