

Real Love

Halcyon

we almost it threw away neither begging to stay we both held strangers hands hold holding strands of how are or what we would say when your soul passed my way all you needed was time all i need was mine i didn't want let you go i could run this wondrous show you won the right to be free I won the right to find me to find mine

now its real love
real real love
the way its supposed to be your stories held behind your eyes yet we still act surprised and maybe we were meant to be true love doesn't grow on trees the heart refuses to lie the soul refuses goodbye and what will be we don't know love has a mind of it's own love may lose some sight but baby we will be alright there is a path we have grown and love will find its way home the way home

I am the air that you breath

I am the tear when you grieve

I am though you retrieve

I am love you believe

real love real love
