

This Song

John Howard & The Night Mail

You don't need to shout out to be heard Don't even need to speak to spread the word It's all the things you do that add up to you
No matter how amazing or absurd

You don't have to be a kid to go to school
You don't need to be bad to break a rule
And you could fill a pot with all you haven't got
And throw it in the ocean and that's cool

You don't need to listen to this song
And you don't need to say
that it's come out wrong
'cause I found it in my head
with things I should have said
And realized it had been there all along

You don't need to smile to get the joke
You don't have to see the fire to smell the smoke
If we didn't just stand by
When we see people cry
We could make things better at a stroke

You don't need to listen to this song
And you don't need to say
that it's come out wrong
'cause I found it in my head
with things I should have said
And realized it had been there all along

Yes I found it in my head
with things I should have said
And realized it had been there all along

Lyrics Submitted by Richard Gagnon

Lyrics provided by <https://damnyrics.com/>