Word Is

T.S.O.L.

I used to love her a long time ago
When things were fine now that's not so
I'm searching through dark clouds for silver linings
And I'm always searching but I'm never findingLook to my eyes and tell me what you see?
I'm empty inside but a small part of me
It's listening to rumors and believing lies
That parts always searching but it's never findingNow I've met another and she's just the same
She fools around and she plays her games
I'm so tired of losing the games she is playing
I'm so tired of losing but my heart keeps on playingShe says she loves me, my friends say she don't
I'm so confused don't know which way to go
So I'm back to the dark clouds looking for silver linings
And I'm always searching but never findingI used to love her a long time ago
When things were fine, now that's not so
I'm searching through dark clouds for silver linings
And I'm always searching but I'm never findingLook to my eyes and tell me what you see?
I'm empty inside but a small part of me
It's listening to rumors and believing lies
That parts always searching and it's never finding

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/