Time Bomb

Naked Aggression

Oh look, oh look, the sky is falling down There's a sunset in the afternoon today Nuclear whispers, atomic screams now fill the night I look outside, there's nobody home anymore, anywhere, anymore Mass destruction, what's it all for No one will know who won the war Everyone's dead, blown to pieces The rulers killed us for no reason They say they are working for peace While they build more bombs to destroy the whole world I see people that don't even care to know When the final war comes we'll have nowhere to run and we'll all die together! Mass destruction, what's it all for No one will know who won the war Everyone's dead, blown to pieces The rulers killed us for no reason Oh look, oh look, the sky is falling down There's a sunset in the afternoon today Nuclear whispers, atomic screams now fill the night I look outside, there's nobody home anymore, anywhere, anymore Wouldn't you wish for happiness Now that they've thrown it all away Wouldn't you rather have it all now Now that it's all gone
