

The Dissonance of Discontent

Showbread

We've come so far, and here we are Amidst the endless hum
No wind worth chasing, no revolution
No blazing battle drum
We laughed as we said, "The music is dead"
We've plucked out its eyes, we've shattered its head
My work is so weary so let it be said, "Father, Thy will be done"
We laughed as we said, "The music is dead"
We've plucked out its eyes, we've shattered its head
My work is so weary so let it be said, "Father, Thy will be done"
Instruments make the best sounds as they're breaking
People make the best smiles when they're faking
Notes are shattered, blood is spattered
The night is ours for the taking

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>