Always Have, Always Will

BlackHawk

I used to think that love was just for dreamers
That fate and destiny played no part
But finding you has made me a believer
That we were meant to be right from the startBefore the sun, the moon and stars
Were put there in the sky
Before the mountains stood tall
Above this world so high
I loved you then, I love you now
And I'll love you until, always have, always willBefore the light broke through the dark
You were the candle in my heart
Before the dawn of time
I was yours and you were mineBefore the sun, the moon and stars
Were put there in the sky
Before the mountains stood tall
Above this world so high
I loved you then, I love you now
And I'll love you until, always have, always will Always have, always will
