

Cold Heart of Stone

Frank Black & The Catholics

Winter blows through my coat
Its chilling my bones
But it does not compare
To your cold heart of stone I pledged you my love
And I gave you my car
Now you're parking with him
Yeah, I know where you are Winter blows through my coat
Its chilling my bones
But it does not compare
To your cold heart of stone Your favorite perfume
Well, I gave you a tub
Now, you're stepping out
For your rubba dub dub If ever you need
Dont call
If ever you need
Dont call I once had a dog
Who ran from his home
But that wasn't even close
To your cold heart of stone Winter blows through my coat
Its chilling my bones
But it does not compare
To your cold heart of stone Winter blows through my coat
Its chilling my bones
But it does not compare
To your cold heart of stone If ever you need
Dont call
If ever you need
Dont call
If ever you need
Dont call
