By A Thread

The Swellers

Slow down, you've got a lot to see.
A lot of things to hear from me
You'll never catch it all, as fast as you fall
You can't control everything.
Take it as it comes to you.
Just breathe

All you'll ever need will come to you in time.
Keep waiting patiently (to fall in line).
You're hanging by a thread,
So when you come to me.
I promise there'll be better days to see.

Right now, you've got a lot to do.
Believe me, I believe in you.
You weren't born to fly but at least you try.
Don't be let down.
You're not invincible.
You're only human: it's all you know how to be.

You can't control everything.
Take it as it comes to you, just wait.
I haven't seen it all
It takes awhile to find ourselves.

All you'll ever need will come to you in time.
Keep waiting patiently (to fall in line).
You're hanging by a thread,
So when you come to me.
I promise there'll be better days to see.

You want to make a stand
To make the smallest change,
Or maybe save the world (I'll understand).
And if you need a hand
I just want you to know that you are not alone.

Lyrics powered by lyrics.tancode.com
written by DIENER, NICHOLAS BRIAN/DIENER, JONATHAN ADAM Lyrics Â© Warner/Chappell Music, Inc.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/