The Rain Comes Falling Down

Sentenced

(music: Tenkula & Sentenced, Lyrics: Lopakka) now every single cloud becomes a raging storm as I go seeking for the one I used to live for... since your love was taken away my heart's been beating empty beats well, it will end tonight... the blade shall set me free a steady hand with this sharpened cold steel will help me wipe away this pain that I feel the rain comes falling down
my life flows to the ground no longer feeling the pain
my flame now fading away
the rain comes falling down
my life flows to the ground
no longer feeling the pain
my flame now fading away so here I'm lying on these dead and bloody autumn leaves waiting for death to take me where I want to be... a steady hand with this sharpened hard steel will help me wipe away this agony I feel the rain comes falling down
my life flows to the ground
no longer feeling the pain
My flame now fading away
the rain comes falling down
my life flows to the ground
no longer feeling the pain
these leaves now becoming my grave no longer feeling the flame no longer feeling the rain

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/