Tears In The Rain

Joe Diffie

It was raining hard in Houston when I ran in to her
I searched for conversation but I was lost for words
Then a cloud of tear-filled memories came crashing down on me
If it hadn't been for the pouring rain I'm sure she would have seen
Tears in the rain hiding the pain
Maybe she'd come back if she could see me cry
She thinks I'm so strong, oh but she's so wrong
She just couldn't see these tears in the rain
Now I regret that moment 'cause I didn't let her know
How much I still loved her, I was hoping it would show

But the raindrops and teardrops ran together on my face
Now she'll never ever know no one could take her place
Tears in the rain hiding the pain
Maybe she'd come back if she could see me cry
She thinks I'm so strong, oh but she's so wrong
She just couldn't see these tears in the rain
She thinks I'm so strong, oh but she's so wrong
She just couldn't see these tears in the rain
