Rolling Through The Hood

Kelis

Yesterday, I rolled through the hood
And I seen somethin' and it hurt me
Yesterday, I rolled through the hood
And I seen somethin' and it hurt me
You were talking to that woman
Like you could show her somethin'
And I didn't know what to do
Pulled out your pen and paper
And I know it your number you gave her
I never thought this bad dream would come true, yeaBaby I want you to know
The suburbs to the ghetto
Joy is joy and pain is pain, pain
One day sooner than you know
We'll be livin' tomorrow
And we'll be laughin' about today, todayYesterday, I rolled through the hood
And I seen somethin' and it hurt me
Yesterday, I rolled through the hood
And I seen somethin' and it hurt me
You were talking to your boys
And though y'all didn't make noise
You tapped him and you pointed at this woman
Then she turned around, as if she'd been found
And all I know my heart started jumpin', heyBaby I want you to know
The suburbs to the ghetto
Joy is joy and pain is pain, pain
One day sooner than you'll know
We'll be livin' tomorrow
And we'll be laughin' about today, todayMaybe tomorrow, maybe tomorrow
Maybe tomorrow, maybe tomorrow
Maybe tomorrow, maybe tomorrow
Maybe tomorrow, maybe tomorrowBeautiful baby don't you know you mean the world to me
The moon would lose the sky if you don't stay
Did I ever tell you that you were my sunshine?
So basically if you leave there is no day, hey heyYesterday, I rolled through the hood
And I seen somethin' and it hurt me
Yesterday, I rolled through the hood
And I seen somethin' and it hurt me
Instead of scorin' high in college
Just scorin' high in garbageAnd not rememberin' who we are

And not to mention forgettin' who God is
Don't know that you're special
And God will never forget you
The world is yours, watch what you do with it, yeaBaby I want you to know
The suburbs to the ghetto
Joy is joy and pain is pain, pain
One day sooner than you know
We'll be livin' tomorrow
And we'll be laughin' about today, todayMaybe tomorrow, maybe tomorrow
Maybe tomorrow, maybe tomorrow
Maybe tomorrow, maybe tomorrow
Maybe tomorrow, maybe tomorrow
