Goodnight

Leslie Mendelson

The crowd drifts away
The music's beginning to fade
The last notes have been played
As we drift out of sightFrom a young girl selling a rose
Where the neon lights' flicker were closed
On a street where nobody goes
When they turn out the lightsOh, but you and I
Well, our future looks bright
But for now, goodnight
It won't be longThere's something inside us so strong
And we both know we belong
And we'll hold on tightLike a child with a big balloon
Like the earth holds on to the moon
Like Eve on a hot afternoon taking a biteAnd if you don't go now we just might
So for now, goodnight
Sweet dreams, sweet dreams
Is that the time?Just one more glass of wine
And I probably will make you mine
But it wouldn't be right
One day our flame will ignite
But for now, goodnight
